OUR STORY

Based in Northern California, EcoForms is a family-founded business that grew out of the desire to find an alternative to plastic pots. Our attractive and durable pots are made from renewable grain fibers and are biodegradable, meeting our customers' need to support sustainable gardening practices. The commitment to sustainability doesn't end with our products. Our facility is solar powered and our local delivery trucks run on 100% bio-diesel. With over 30 years of experience as wholesale organic growers, our family proudly stands behind our eco-friendly products.

THE ORIGINAL RICE HULL POT

Made from renewable and sustainable plant by-products, EcoForms are the environmentally friendly alternative to plastic pots.

Our tests have shown that plants grow better in EcoForms than in traditional plastic pots due to their insulating design, which leads to thriving, healthy plants. EcoForms pots contain no wood or petroleum ingredients and do not deplete natural or edible resources. When used outdoors, EcoForms pots will last at least five years and even longer when used indoors. They are intended for use above the ground, and show no damage when exposed to freezing or thawing conditions.
